Remembrance

I see Christmas has already hit the shelves in the retail world. What happened to waiting until after Remembrance Day? Let's please respect and enjoy each milestone first before we plunge into the next round of mass marketing.

After Remembrance Day is honoured then we can embrace the Christmas Season! Canada being multicultural, this holiday time is about time with family and friends, a good meal, and a time to relax and enjoy what the season is all about.

Gift Certificates

Our gift certificates are a great idea for the Christmas season!

Give the Environment a Gift

When doing your Christmas shopping this year, please keep the environment in mind. Christmas is a huge contributor to wasteful and over consumption of wrapping paper (it's not recyclable), boxes, bows, and extra plastic with gifts. There's also waste generated by deliveries and packaging from online shopping and from holiday parties. We even have a special garbage pickup for this time of year because we generate so much waste.

Don't get me wrong – I LOVE the Christmas season, so here are ways to enjoy it and respect the environment at the same time (and save lots of money while you're at it).

Buy gifts at consignment stores

Jewellery makes a wonderful Christmas gift and the resale market has many special treasures. Mint-condition purses, decorative items, clothing, and gift sets are available too. The amount of paper, boxes and plastic avoided buying consignment is an added bonus.

Wrap your gifts in creative ways

Use dishtowels to wrap a gift of kitchen goods, or a scarf to tie around matching glove set. Search "eco-friendly gift wrapping" on Pinterest to stoke your imagination!

Hosting a family gathering?

Shopping consignment, you can create a budget-friendly and

Disposable Fashion

Shopping online opens up a whole new world of waste! Think about the extra packing and delivery services involved. New websites where you can buy items for pennies sell low quality pieces with absolutely NO resale value - the clothing can barely even be worn one time. We see so many of this type of garment brought in to be resold since the customer was unable to wear it once and thinks it can be resold because it's new. Sadly the answer is no. The packaging cost more than the item.

Get Social!

Join us on social media (@kcbtf) - we love hearing from you!

glamorous Christmas dining experience for family and friends. Imagine a beautiful linen tablecloth and napkins, fine china, stunning serving dishes, and crystal sparkling. Resale prices are amazing, and there are beautiful treasures to be found! If something breaks, you won't feel so bad, knowing you can replace it in your travels shopping the resale market.

What about the extra seating needed for get-togethers? A card table is so useful and can be stored away for future use. Also think about a new-to-you dining table: There has never been a better time to buy a resale dining table because many new homes are built without dining rooms.

Reuse bags, wrapping paper, and boxes.

We at Kid Cents reuse gently used bags, wrapping paper and useful boxes - from jewellery boxes to gift ones. We like to thank all our customers that currently are helping us recycle their retail bags and tissue paper. We don't take grocery bags for reuse due to possible bacteria being left behind from food.

Shop consignment for holiday outfits and/or accessories

We offer beautiful current brand name pieces with all the accessories to match! We have a great selection of shoes, jewellery and evening handbags. Just ask and our staff will help you create something special!

Decorate with the joy of past treasures

Christmas decorations are wonderful to find at a consignment store. Those old fashion glass bulbs are so pretty and warm memories come flowing back. We get a great assortment of Christmas decor including wreaths, tree ornaments, table centrepieces and more!

Consider NEW Christmas lights

Wait, what? Yes, this is one area where the new ones are better: safer and much, much more energy efficient.
